Provided further that the charges payable to such Bank or institution are not higher than the normal bank charges.

6.8 Risk

Investors should realize that all investments in mutual funds and securities involve risk. It should be clearly understood that the portfolio of the Fund is subject to market fluctuations and risks inherent in all such investments. The value of the Units in the Fund may appreciate as well as depreciate, as well as the level of dividend declared by the Fund, if any, may go down as well as up. Past performance does not necessarily indicate future performance. Therefore, before you invest in the Fund you should carefully evaluate the risks. The Fund is not recommended for investors whose principal objectives are assured income or capital preservation.

Some of the factors which add to the risk of the Fund include but are not limited to the following factors:

(a) Market Risk: The prices of and the income generated by the securities held by the Fund may decline in response to certain events, including those directly involving the companies whose securities are owned by the Fund, general economic and market conditions, regional or global economic instability, or currency and interest rate fluctuations.

(b) Credit Risk: The risk that a security's issuer or the counter party in the case of reverse repurchase or other arrangement, may not meet its obligation in full and/or on time to pay interest and repay capital or other financial obligations. If the issuer of the instrument or the relevant financial institution or the counter party, in the case of reverse repurchase or other arrangement fails to pay interest, the Fund's income might be reduced and if the issuer fails to repay principal, the value of that security and Fund's Units may be reduced. Credit risk is comprised of default risk and downgrade risk. The Management Company shall help mitigate this risk by continuously reviewing the market conditions and shall also consider individual credit risks, but it may be understood that market value of fixed-income securities will fluctuate with change in interest levels.

(c) Business Risk: Business Risk is the uncertainty of income flows caused by the nature of a firm's business. It includes:

(i) Change in business cycles affecting the business of the company in which the investment is made.

(ii) Mismanagement of the invested company, third party liability through class action or occurrence of other events such as strikes, fraud etc., in the company in which the investment was made.

(d) Interest Rate Risk: During periods of falling interest rates, the values of fixed-income securities generally rise. Conversely, during periods of rising interest rates, the values of such securities generally decline. Generally, the longer the maturity of the fixed-income security, the more the value will decline when interest rates rise. Specific debt instruments differ in their sensitivity to changes in interest rates depending on specific characteristics of each such instrument. A measure commonly used to determine the sensitivity is called duration. The longer the duration of a particular debt instrument, the greater is its price sensitivity to interest rates changes. Similarly, a longer duration portfolio of security has greater price sensitivity.

(e) Liquidity Risk: The risk stemming from the lack of marketability of an investment that cannot be bought or sold quickly enough to prevent or minimize loss. Certain securities may be difficult or impossible to sell at the time and price that the Fund would like. The Fund may have to sell a security at a lower price, sell other securities in its portfolio or forego an investment opportunity under those circumstances. This could have a negative effect on the Fund's performance.

(f) Portfolio Performance Risk: Performance is the uncertainty relating to the performance of the Fund with respect to its ability to higher income stream and investment upside. The NAV of the Fund might go down.

(g) Events Risk: There may be adjustments to the performance of the Fund due to events such as market disruptions, mergers, nationalization, insolvency and changes in taxation law.

(h) Re-investment Risk: The risk that an instrument's cash flows (coupon income and principal repayment) will be reinvested at interest rates below that on the original instrument. If interest rates decline, the underlying instrument may rise in value, but the cash flow received from that instrument may have to be invested at a lower interest rate.

(i) Active Trading Risk: The Fund may engage in active and frequent trading portfolio securities to achieve its investments objectives. If a Fund does trade in this way, it may incur increased costs, which can lower the actual return of the Fund. Active trading may also increase short terms gain and losses, which may affect taxes that must be paid.

(j) Management Risk: There is no guarantee that the investments techniques and risk analyses used by the Fund's portfolio managers will produce the desired results.

(k) Sovereign Risk: Payment of bonds/ notes may be effected by the economic and political events in the country of the relevant issuer. The occurrence of a sovereign risk event could result in the loss of all or a portion of the principal invested should, as a result of any economic or political circumstance.

(l) Country or Political Risk: Country or Political Risk is the uncertainty of returns caused by the possibility of a major change in the political or economic environment of the country such as:

(i) Break down of law and order, war, acts of terrorism, natural disasters, etc.

(ii) Any governmental actions, legislative changes or court orders restraining payment of principal or income.

(iii) Trading in Fund Units may be suspended if the Stock Exchange suspends the trading of securities, whenever the Stock Exchange determines that it is appropriate in the interests of a fair and orderly market to protect investors.
